The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Paper Tide is Overwhelming

Newspapers demand, and get, reports from many government agencies. This is in keeping with the people's right to know.

In keeping this demand viable, reporters usually look beyond the reports and seek to learn if agencies, boards, councils, and committees are hiding their actions from the public, or, indeed, lying to them.

It appears the press has created a Frankenstein monster. Even the largest media needs help in reading all of the emanations from those capable of ruling us by laws while taking and spending our money.

In a single day, recently, nearly 50 such communications reached this editor's desk. Most of them were 1, 2 or as many as 5 pages. These were easily scanned for subject and matter. Some were meaningful to readers. Others were self-serving hand-outs which may have sprained the wrist of the perpetrators as they patted themselves on their backs for running such outstanding operations.

On the single day came three sets of documents which we claim will defy the imagination of even the most credulous—unless he is on a newspaper editorial desk.

Starting with the least intimidating (because of size) was the agenda for the September meeting of the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO). In all, there were 64 pages of single spaced material which the commission would have to study and act upon.

There were such things as the Galloway Valley Annexation, the Hinrichs Detachment, the Formation of Miller Road County Service Area and a Conflict of Interest Code, to name a few. These matters were replete with background material with recommendations of the executive officer together with his reasoning.

The Grossmont Union High School District submitted a package which was the work book for the next board meeting.

5 pages of agenda notes were backed up by 20 pages source material. 25 pages!

But that's only the "program".

With the program was a document of 124 pages which had such study material as a list of new teachers for whom contracts must be signed; a list of teacher's pay for post-session employment who must be paid for an average of 60 hours at rates of $7.88 to $16.90 an hour; certification of more than 500 teachers together with wages ranging from $10.53 to $12.43 an hour; a report on state legislation; a report on high school proficiency in learning; a study of student drug use policy changes; a decision on the dedication of GUHS property for a a traffic signal use; an agreement for supplying adult education in San Diego County jails and detention camps, and for mentally handicapped citizens.

And that was about halfway through the 124 pages!

The final of the three reports came from Sacramento. The package was so thick and heavy it had to be tied with twine. It covered the determinations of the assembly and of the senate for the previous two weeks.

Read them? There's no way. It is probable that few of the lawmakers read through them either — except where their own pet issues are printed.

Not only was there not time enough to read the Sacramento report, there wasn't even time to count the pages. So we weighed it. 9 pounds!

Items in this report cover the entire spectrum of existence of all citizens (and criminals) of the State of California.

These three exhibitions beg several questions.

1. How can those responsible for acting on so many matters assure themselves that their judgments are correct with so many items to consider in so little time?

2. How can the public become aware of the myriad issues being made for or against them?

3. Should the number of issues be reduced by putting them under control and metered out, a certain number at each regular meeting?

4. Are some of the matters put on the agenda for the purpose of crowding it to require hurried or bad judgment decisions?

5. With so many determinations under pressure, why would anyone want to serve on these decision-making bodies?

It is safe to charge that the public knows very little about what goes on in these legislative and administrative bodies. The length of the meetings discourage regular attendance. Even when all of the actions are printed (there isn't enough time for air media to cover them all in detail) few citizens have time or desire to read them. Most of them are dreary.

There's got to be a better way to handle the people's business but the only suggestion we can make is to make a suicide list by which many bureaus, commissions and departments will die on a predetermined schedule.

Without appointed bodies slipping in time-consuming problems, elected bodies could get on with considerations of genuine issues more efficiently.

That would be only the initial step in bringing government operation closer to the people — but it is a direction that is to be desired.

Cops Want Info On Curb Painters

Deputy Andy Nossal, detective with the Sheriff's fraud detail, said that an operation is being carried on in Spring Valley that may be fraudulent.

In it a teenage girl asks the resident for $3 for painting the house number on the curb.

The young lady displays a circular indicating the painting will be done by a young man the next day or so, collects $3 and gives a receipt.

The printed material carries the name of "Student Home Services" which once operated under a City of San Diego permit. The permit has been revoked. No permit is needed to provide the service in Spring Valley.

So far, two S.V. residents have reported that they had paid for the numbering. One lives on Ildica. The other on Rover st. At the time they reported the painting had not been done.

Detective Nossal urged those who have paid or who have been solicited to get in touch with him at 236-2951 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

City Seeks Manager

Interviews of the first group of candidates for the most sensitive post in city government — that of city manager —began Monday night after the regular council meeting.

Two of the 10 candidates were screened by the full board in closed session. The identification of the candidates were not revealed, and will not be since some of them are managers of other cities and 9 of them will be rejected.

Screening will continue almost daily until the entire group has been seen and heard. Probably, another round of screening of the finalists will be held.

Council action included nominal city matters such as continuing the hearing on assigning a franchise to SD G&E to distribute electricity in the City and approving a tentative subdivision map for further development of L.G. Square at the southwest corner of Brooadway and Massachusetts. The owners had asked to be relieved of installing sidewalks and undergrounding utility wires which they said would add $65,000 to the cost of the project. But council thought otherwise.

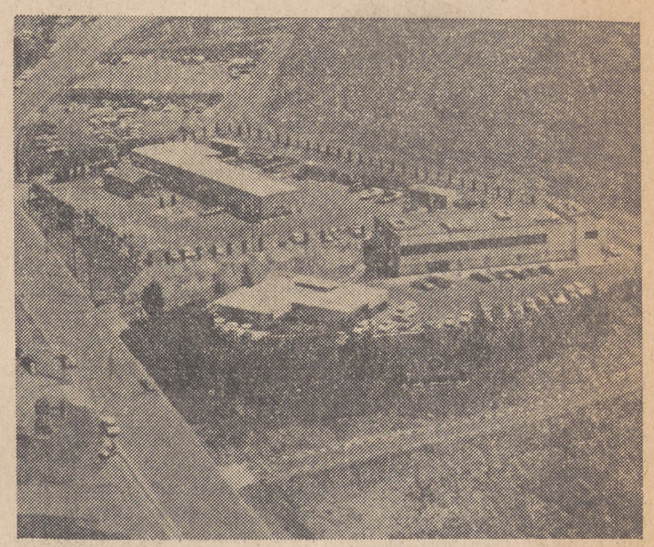
Council approved a request for a change in zoning of 6.8 acres of land on the east side of McKnight dr. and north of San Pasqual st. from R-2A (residential) to R-1A (residential). The property is known as Berryland Estates and the change is compatible with the surrounding area, according to Jerry Herrmauser of county planning.

A long and complicated explanation of why Lemon Grove's EPIC (Effective Problem Intervention Center) was not funded and an explanation of how it might have an opportunity to bid for funds for delivering counseling services in the future was made by Dr. Robert Caulk, Ph.D.

Council approved the alcoholic beverage license applications of the Red Carpet and Fairway Market. Both are transfers to new owners.

A petition signed by 12 residents on Sheri lane requesting that the lane be resurfaced was accepted by the council and referred to county engineers for action.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. October 3 at the L.G. Education Center at the corner of Kempf and Lincoln sts.



OPEN HOUSE — The Otay Municipal Water District has scheduled an "Open House" for Saturday 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at its district offices at 10595 Jamacha blvd., Spring Valley.
A program that will interest children as well as adults will be offered throughout the day. The program includes demonstrations of the district's radio communications system and by the S.V. Fire Protection District's Paramedic Unit.
On display will be heavy construction equipment use in construction of the district's water and sewer systems. Instruction on meter reading, drip irrigation and water treating will be given.
A movie "Billion Gallon a Day" shows where water comes from, how it is distributed and methods of conservation.
Employees of the district will serve refreshments.

Your Home's Assessed Value Has Skyrocketed! Here's Why

San Diego County taxpayers may understand why property assessments are soaring, County Assessor E. C. Williams said after compiling a list of homes that have sold twice during the last year.

According to figures just released from records in his office, Williams affirms that the dramatic upward spiral of increases in the prices of home sales in the county showed no let-up during 1976-77.

According to Williams, "The following list of random, typical samples is composed of actual sales in a number of representative cities and communities within the county."

Williams adds, "This escalation of values has been going on in our county for many years, but began to pick up speed in 1974 and continued this upsurge on into 1977. There appears to be no indication at this time that the momentum is changing, and comparable increases may be likely in many areas next year."

S.V. Kiwanis Club Kids Day is Saturday

The Spring Valley Kiwanis Club is holding its annual Kids Day party Saturday at La Presa Jr. High school 1-1:30 p.m.

Kids, kindergarten through 6th grade, will participate in games for prizes, receive free popcorn and soft drinks, and mix with farm animals at the FFA's Petting Zoo, according to Gene Haden, Kiwanis club president.

The Petting Zoo, one of the most popular parts of the event, is the result of the relationship the club has developed with FFA youngsters, according to Alex Struthers, agricultural and conservation chairman for the Kiwanis.

He said that $10,000 has been provided to FFA through the club's "Share the Plow" program during the 7 years the Plow program has been in operation.

The club buys farm animals at the E. County Fair, resells them at a profit and turns the entire proceeds over to the FFA in the form of farm equipment. Other bidders are encouraged to do the same.

This year FFA youngsters will be given a disc plow.

All youngsters of Spring Valley schools are invited to the Saturday party.

Persons selected will be paid a monthly salary in addition to earning a full week's paid vacation every six months, free weekends to participate in personal activities, and obtain experience in life or emergency work."

"The California Conservation Corps is a unique opportunity to help California's environment. The challenge exists — the job is tough — the opportunity waiting.

Yom Kippur, the Jewish New Year, Continues Today

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, the most sacred and solemn day of the year for Jews all over the world which began yesterday at sundown, continues to sundown today.

The officers of the San Diego Rabbinical Association, Rabbi Aaron Gold, Rabbi Wayne Dosick and Rabbi Michael Sternfield, extend to all of their congregants and colleagues New Year greetings.

"May the awe-inspiring message of the Holy Days lead us to greater devotion and deeper commitment to the basic teachings of Judaism. These include a universal concern for freedom, justice and the dignity of the individual," the Association said in a joint statement.

Political Concerns

Many Rabbis will be preaching on the subject of Jewish identity in a growing San Diego Jewish community. Some will emphasize their concern for the growing number of the Jewish poor, the increasing number of refugees from Soviet Russia for whom homes and jobs must be found.

Others will emphasize the deep distress and concern of both Christians and Jews regarding the pressures placed on Israel to meet with the PLO and to give up the West Bank, which is Biblical Israel, without equal pressure being brought to bear on the Arab states to make concessions towards peace.

The strong feeling is that oil blackmail is again being used to buldgeon a peace-loving and a peace-seeking Israel.

Self-Examination

Yom Kippur is characterized by fasting and profound self-examination. Jews spend the entire day at the synagogue in prayer. The opening liturgy, the Kol Nidre, is one of the most meaningful and earnest rituals in the Jewish religion.

The seriousness of Yom Kippur is emphasized by the abstinance from eating and drinking for the entire 24-hour period.

It is a day upon which physical and material concerns are put aside and the individual evaluates his life and his conduct.

It is the one time during the year where confession takes place in the synagogue.

This confession is uttered directly to God and is in the plural, emphasizing the Jewish concept that all of us are responible for the sins of society, since we are a part of humanity.

There's An Answer

By Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale

Alone

Q. In the Sunday paper I saw where you had recommended your booklet, "Try Faith and Watch What Happens."

I need it. I've had so many reverses since my husband died very suddenly three years ago. I attend church each Sunday and say my prayers daily but grow more depressed each day.

Most of our married friends have ceased to call. I have no children or relatives living nearby.

I wish there were someone I could talk to and pray with.

Any help you can suggest would be a great lift to me as I spend many lonely hours.

A. Perhaps a simple and effective thing you can do is to find the names of several very lonely people. There are lots of them everywhere.

Then set about giving them some friendly attention — a card or letter, a phone call, or drop in to see them.

As you help another lonely human being to be happier, your loneliness will begin to disappear. Try this and see if it doesn't work.

You may wish to write the Foundation for Christian Living, Pawling, NY 12564, where our Prayer Fellowship will pray in confidence for any request. Or call our Prayer Line and a trained Prayer Partner will listen, talk and pray with you any time, day or night. Dial (212) 481-1050.

God Responsible

Q. I was puzzled by your reply to a woman stating God did not take away the man she loved and was not responsible for her physical condition.

Don't you believe God is omnipotent and to Him all things are possible, that He can cause things to happen as well as prevent them from happening?

Why then isn't He responsible for everything that happens?

A. Yes, we do believe that God is omnipotent and that with him all things are possible. And great and good values come to people who hold that faith and live by it.

But God has given men and women free moral agency—or the right to decide for themselves.

If they decide in error, they are responsible for that choice and not God. Another thing to keep in mind is that God has established a natural law and the laws of health. He does not usually interfere in their operation.

Husband Stepping Out

Q. My problem is my married life. For over four years my husband has been stepping out on me, and I just can't get it off my mind.

I will never be able to trust him any more unless he proves to me he has stopped.

For years I would catch him on the phone on his way to work. I also caught him reading a love letter and parked off on a side road waiting for her.

He has hit me several times.

I am not well. The doctor thinks keeping me upset is the reason my blood pressure is high.

I would have left him but I do love him and his children.

He works hard and makes a good living. We have a nice home. We all go to church every Sunday, but he hasn't joined yet. Do give me some advice on how to handle this case.

A. Perhaps you ought to do two things: First, make an in-depth study of yourself. Is it possible that if you were different your husband wouldn't be stepping out? Could it be that you are chronically sick, not actually perhaps, but in attitude? If you love this man enough to stay with him you will need to become a stronger, even more exciting personality.

Second, never allow him to hit you. Stand up to him. It just could be that if you became more resolute you might become more attractive to him. or at least you could handle him better.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Controlling Late Summer Problems With Mildew

Muggy days are heydays for certain molds (fungi), which form mildew, says George K. York, microbiologist, Cooperative Extension, University of California. Normally they float around harmlessly in the air, but during humid conditions they light in warm, damp, poorly aired and poorly lighted places such as basements, closets and in newly built homes due to moisture in the building materials.

Preventing Mildew

Controlling dampness — Keep things clean. Soiled clothes, damp from rain or perspiration, hung in a closet, towels and washcloths put in a hamper wet, or grease on a kitchen wall, provide food for molds. Repair cracks or breaks in basement.

Keep all areas of the house well-ventilated to prevent moisture from building up inside.

Dry moist air — Close windows and doors and use an air conditioner or dehumidifier. If they are not available, heat the house (not too hot) for a short time (leave doors and windows open) and use a fan to force moisture-laden air out.

Dry out the moist air inside a closet by using a fan or chemicals. A light, burning continuously, will keep a small closet dry.

Removing Mildew

The musty odor is associated with mildew.

Look for dirty-gray, blue-black or green-black smears. When you've located the mildew, do not paint over it because it will come back through the paint. Remove it first, then, if painting is necessary, paint with mildew-resistant paint.

Most mildew on solid surfaces can be removed by scrubbing with the following solution: 1/2 cup strong household cleaner such as trisodium phosphate., or washing soda, 1 gallon of water, and 1/2 cup household bleach. Rinse with cloth wrung out of clean water.

To clean clothing and household fabrics, brush mildew off while fresh before it has weakened the fabric.

Wash washable articles. Rinse and dry in sun.

If stain remain, moisten with lemon juice and salt and spread in sun to bleach. Then rinse with clear water.

Wipe leather goods with cloth wrung out of alcohol solution (1 cup denatured or rubbing alcohol to 1 cup water) and dry with fan.

If mildew remains, wash with thick suds containing a germicide or fungicide. Wipe with damp cloth and dry with fan.

French Folksinger Performs

Two Person Households

By 1990, one or two person households will be the rule rather than the exception, accounting for 56 percent of all residences.

This Census Bureau Population projection means food producers and grocers will be doing more to cater to small families.

Among their efforts will be the development of single serving packages. These "just for one or two" sizes eliminate leftovers, storage problems, and are more economical.

'Vanities' Due in SD

"Vanities," the nationally successful comedy about "growing up," will be presented in the Spreckels Theatre for a two-week run beginning October 6th.

Produced by impressario James Doolittle, the play has enjoyed an 8-month run in Los Angeles, and has drawn rave comments from reviewers countrywide including Bill Edwards (Daily Variety), Sylvie Drake (L.A. Times) and Regis Philbin (ABC-TV).

Busy Summer at Park

Summer 1977 proved to be the busiest season yet for the San Diego Wild Animal Park. Between Memorial Day and Labor Day some 506,307 park visitors turned the stiles.

For upholstered furniture, mattresses and rugs, brush off mold. Do this outside. Then use a vacuum cleaner to remove remaining mold. Leave articles in sun and air to stop mold growth. If mildew remains, sponge furniture and mattresses lightly with thick suds and wipe with clean damp cloth (do not get filling wet), or wipe with cloth wrung out of diluted alcohol (1 cup denatured or rubbing alcohol to 1 cup water). Dry thoroughly.

The walk, part of the new "Know Your Parks Walk" series offered by the museum, will cover about a mile of gently rolling terrain and take about two hours to complete. The charge is $2. Reservations are required and may be made by calling the museum at 232-3821, ext. 22.

Booklet Available On Trust Accounts

Getting around federal and state taxes through the use of trust funds is the subject of a new booklet available through Bank of America.

Officials at the Bank estimate some 330,000 Californians have estates worth $200,000 or more and noted the average tax bite for those estates is in excess of $50,000.

The booklet, titled "Leaving More to Your Family with a Trust", examines the various tax rates for both federal and state inheritance taxes to determine how much a trust would save.

The booklet cites a case of a $300,000 community property estate willed first to a spouse and then to an adult child — the federal and state inheritance taxes would amount to about $63,500. According to the figures compiled by Bank of America personnel, with a trust those taxes would dwindle to a total of $13,128.

The guide for trusts at available at any of the bank's 35 trust offices around the state.

Pads to End Home Season In 'Frisco Series Sunday

The 1977 National League season may still have a little more than a week and a half to run before the regular portion of the campaign wraps up, but for the San Diego Padres the last few days of home competition have arrived.

The Padres will put the finishing touches on the home slate for another season in the next few days as the club will be concluding a three-game series with the Cincinnati Reds today and open their final home series of the season on Friday, against the San Francisco Giants.

But, let's take things in the proper order of events.

San Diego will be closing out the series with the Reds this afternoon with the club's final Business Special of the season. Game time is 1 p.m. instead of the usual weekday starting time of 7 p.m.

Then, it's a big welcome to San Francisco Giants for the final three home games of the year Friday through Sunday. The opening two games of the series will start at 7 p.m. with the home finale set for Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m.

During the course of the series with the Bay Area Club, the Padres will have some interesting promotional events on the calendar headed up by the Annual Fan Appreciation Day on Sunday. That afternoon the Padres will give away many great prizes to lucky fans including a 1978 Chevrolet Chevette, an Omega 14 sailboat and several fun trips to such places as Hawaii, San Francisco, Washington, D.C. and Las Vegas.

Also, on the promotional schedule for this period is the final Dow Sound City Night on Friday, with valuable stereo equipment being given away throughout the evening plus the annual San Diego Union-Evening Tribune Team Photo Night on Saturday, with all fans receiving a free full color photo of the 1977 Padres.

With the close of the home schedule, the Padres will be idle on Monday, before moving off to Cincinnati for meetings with the Reds on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 27-28. Then, following another open date on Thursday, September 29, the club will journey to San Francisco for the final three outings of the year against the Giants on September 30-October 1-2.

Outdoors & Travel

By E. L. "Buck" Rogers

The statement that "all fishermen are liars" just ain't so.

On the contrary, I've found that most fishermen are relatively honest. They get that way from associating with largemouth bass and fresh air, and even Ralph Nader can't fault that type of environment.

Other folks might be more suspect however. Take a doctor filling out in income tax return for instance. Or how about a golfer? The average golfer may not be dishonest but he sure is forgetful. I never met one yet who could remember all his strokes unless someone gave him a hand.

Used car salesmen have to lie a little to earn a living, but politicians don't have that excuse. It's been said that they have to lie to justify their existence, but I figure they got that way from associating with other politicians.

As an uncle of mine once said, "the only honest politician I ever saw was one who didn't get elected."

So, let's stop picking on the 40 million anglers who inhabit this country of ours. Actually, they're a purty nice breed.

For instance, find that fishermen buy more fishing licenses than anyone else. Other folks can clutter up our wilderness with beer cans and gum wrappers without accounting to anyone. Not a fisherman, though. Before a man can head for the woods with a fishing rod in his hand, he's got to buy a license. Fishing license sales amounted to $300,000,000 last year, and that amount of money helps pick up a lot of old beer cans and gum wrappers which other folks leave lying around. But the biggest problem that fishermen have these days is catching a decent sized fish.

All of the good backyard fishing spots have been turned into subdivisions, superhighways, or amusement parks, so most fishermen have to do a mite of traveling to exercise their casting arms. East coast anglers are sampling the steelhead fishing in Washington. Colorado fishermen, used to creeling six-inch trout, are spending their vacations trying to land a lunker bass in Texas. Still others are flying to Canada, Mexico, or South America where the fishing is even better.

I asked a Braniff airline feller that I know about this situation, and he told me that rod cases are now more common in airline luggage compartments than golf bags.

Let's take the case of an Iowa fisherman who goes to Argentina for some of those big trout down there. His airline ticket cost him $580, and a week's fishing with a good outfitter another $500. Add $200 for beer and a present for his wife, and his total investment for that fishing trip amounted to a cool $1,280.

So if he caught a five-pound brook trout and remembered it as a ten-pounder when he got home, that wouldn't be lying would it? And even if it was a slight exaggeration, wouldn't it be justified?

Under these circumstances, and when compared to horse players, politicans, and golfers, I think you'll have to agree that fishermen are kinda honest after all.

Also included on the roster are former San Diego Gulls Sandy Fitzpatrick, Bob Champoux, Jim Schraefel, and Coach Gordy Sinclair. Former San Diego Mariners are Brian Morenz, Bob Wall, and Russ Gillow.

The Sharks roster also includes many talented local stars who have worked their way up the San Diego amateur ranks.

All home games will be played at the Mira Mesa House of Ice. Tickets are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children 16 years and under.

Kings Get Hicks For North Stars

The Los Angeles Kings' search for a high scoring left winger has ended with the acquisition of 30-goal scorer Ernie Hicke from the Minnesota North Stars.

The Kings obtained the 29-year old Hicke, whose contract will call for multi-year terms, as a free agent without compensation.

The 5-11, 190 pounder with a booming shot and combative style was Minnesota's leading goal scorer last season and his 30 goals, had he been on the Kings, would have tied him for third with Butch Goring. Yet, Hicke scored his 30 in only three-quarters of last season playing sparsely the first 20 games.

"We have been trying to acquire the high-scoring left winger Ernie Hicke for the past five years," said Jack Kent Cooke, President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the L.A. Kings.

"Our patience has now been rewarded and no one is happier than I. There's always room for another star in the Kings Crown. Ernie Hicke is just such a player and will prove it to the satisfaction of Los Angeles fans."

Hicke is only the fifth North Star — Wayne Connelly, Danny Grant, Bill Goldsworthy and Tim Young being the other four — in their ten-year history to score 30 goals in a single season.

"For a number of years," said Ernie Hicke, "it's been my ambition to play with the Kings. At last that ambition is realized, and I will do everything in my power to justify the Kings confidence in me."

Esau Tries for 3-Timer Saturday

Ron Esau of Lakeside may pull it off again. Last year the 22-year old super-stock driver won 3 main events in a row as the season ended.

This year, as the end of the season grows closer, he has taken the last two main events.

He'll be out to win this week when he races in the annual Grand Prix Saturday.

While Saturday's card will be the final point race of 1977, there are still several racing events on the October calendar.

October 1 — Super stock annual open competition.

8 — Powerful CRA sprint cars will race.

22 — Combination midget-stocker show.

Saturday, the annual 50-lap season-closing race will be run on the 3/8-mile oval. A 4-lap trophy dash, 4 8-lap heat races, a 10-lap consolation, and a 20 lap semi are listed.

Last week's win enabled Esau to take over third place in the ECSCRA point standings and he would like to retain that position Saturday night.

Pat McIntyre and Mike Hagerman already having clinched the top two spots, so the battle will be waged for hat third spot. Ed Hale, who races in a tuxedo, trails Esau by 75 points and fifth place Gary Crossland is only 100 points back of Esau.

245 points will be the maximum possible number of points which can be earned this weekend so the battle for battle will be waged for that third place bears watching.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

Some mornings you can get up and somehow everything falls into place right from the beginning and you know it's going to be a great day.

One of those picture perfect mornings when there ain't no way some turkey is gonna cause rain to tumble down on your parade.

Like when the coffee machine goes off on time and you wake up to the wondrous aroma of a proper perk.

Then you grab a free section of the morning paper and you find you have the sports' pages wherein some wise and caring editor included the crossword puzzle, Goren on Bridge, Neil Morgan and the comics in the same section.

Then wonder of wonders, you find the bathroom empty, with a fresh roll installed and the burned out light bulbs (you promised to change) replaced to provide proper reading luminance.

That kind of a day is rare and a joy to experience.

Last Sunday was NOT that kind of a day.

My ever lovin' forgot to put water in the coffee machine and burned it out, some neighborhood dog chewed my paper to shreds, and the line at the bathroom was slowed down because no one had replaced the damn burned out bulbs and one could not see to wash up.

Why is it when the Raiders throw their World Championship rings on the field, Charger personnel fold like a cheap suitcase.

Surely, the Chargers are better than they played across our Sunday TV sets. Miss Agnes pre-school toddlers play a better game of touch than the Chargers played football against the Oaklands.

On a hot and sunny day, the Chargers rained all over our parade of football dreams and playoff hopes.

"Johnny R.—SuperStar," looked more like Elmer Fudd, Superdud. It was awful. The promise of the preseason gave way to play so bad it brought new meaning to the word "ineptitude."

And now they forth and play again, in hopes, one supposes, that THEY got it "out of their system," and good play and high scoring will follow them through the rest of the season.

Don't bet on it. Tommy Prothro's Pachyderms go up against a tough bunch from Kansas City this week who all but upset the highly touted New England Patriots in their opener.

Chief's coach Paul Wiggin has a wild bunch waiting for Tommy's Troops and the Kansas City home crowd, although used to long waits, is eager to cheer a winner.

And so the dreams of the exhibition campaign evaporate into the reality of posted scores. So far this season the Chargers have not caused much excitement in football post season plans. They are not to be included in the magic eight playoff circle it seems.

It is, of course, unfair to judge Prothro's Behemoths on just their showing against the Raiders. Oakland is, after all, the World Champion and all that. There is even some talk they do not pull their pants on one leg at a time.

But that game is over. Done with. Finished. Logged in the book of records.

Now is the time for positive thinking. Forget the Raiders and that they must be faced again. Think win for the Chargers against the Kansas City crowd.

And buy a new coffee machine, replace the light bulbs, restore confidence with a new roll and hope some wise editor crowds the sports' section with all the good stuff.

Rams-Eagles Activity Starts at 12:25 Sun.

Playing their conference home opener against a team which they hosted just 6 weeks ago in pre-season play, the Los Angeles Rams are at the Coliseum Sunday afternoon to entertain the Philadelphia Eagles in a game which KMPC will broadcast live beginning at 12:50 p.m.

The Chuck Knor Show at 12:25 and Ram Warm Up at 12:35 will precede the game broadcast on KMPC.

Dick Enberg, Steve Bailey and Dick Bass will be at the KMPC microphones as the Rams attempt to duplicate their earlier 20-3 triumph, their only win of the pre-season.

The Rams are home again the following Sunday to face another of their pre-season foes, the San Francisco 49ers.

KMPC will broadcast that game live and direct from the Coliseum, beginning at 12:25 p.m.

The Aztecs (0-2) go into the tournament seeking their first win of the season.

Chargers to Try Chiefs In Kansas City Sunday

The Chargers, when they were based in Los Angeles, Calif. in 1960, whipped the Dallas Texans 21-20 in the opening game of the first American Football League season.

The S.D. Chargers and the K.C. Chiefs are descendants of those teams and have been division opponents since Day 1.

They meet for the 35th time in regular season play Sunday at Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City.

Last week the Chargers were defeated by the Oakland's Super Bowl XI champions 24-0 in the Chargers' 1977 NFL opener. The Chiefs were defeated by New England 21-17.

Up and Down

Both teams will be determined to win Sunday and there isn't much to choose from between the two. However, the Chargers appear to be a team on the way up as they meet the Chiefs headed the other direction.

In lifetime series Kansas City leads 18-15-1. The Chargers won the last 3 games in K.C. They outscored the Chiefs 14-7 in 1974, 28-20 in 1975 and 30-16 in 1976. The Chiefs won in S.D. 23-20 last year. They have beaten the Chargers in San Diego the last 5 years.

The Air Show

Sunday's game will be broadcast by Jerry Gross, John DeMott and Scott Gregory on radio 1130. Pat Curran's NFL Weekend begins at 8:50 a.m. Charger Talk with Bob Chandler and Bruce Walton starts at 9 followed by The Tommy Prothro Show at 12:35 and the game preview at 12:50. Charger Talk resumes in the locker room after the game. The game will be telecast on TV 39 with Stu Nahan and Floyd Little as the broadcasters.

Last Week

Last week the Chargers were outgained 317-121 in total yardage by Oakland. Two of the Raiders' touchdowns covered drives of 13 and 10 yards. The Raiders' first touchdown was set up by a pass interference penalty and their third was set up after a fumble recovery on a Charger punt return.

Charger quarterback James Harris completed 11 of 22 passe for 77 yards, running back Don Woods gained 30 yards in 7 carries, and wide receiver Charlie Joiner caught 4 passes for 33 yards.

Kansas City led New England 14-0 in the first quarter. An 11-yard run by Jess Phillips in the third quarter gave New England a 21-14 lead and enough for the victory. Chiefs rookie running back Tony Reed gained 88 yards in 19 carries, the most by a rookie runner on the first weekend of the NFL's 58th season.

Reed, a number two draft choice from the U. of Colorado, drew praise from Chiefs coach Paul Wiggin. "He's going to be a premier running back in the NFL. He will play a big part in our future. He is an upfield type of runner."

Prothro's View

Chargers coach Tommy Prothro evalated his team. "Our players were more angry than discouraged. You can't make mistakes against a top team and Oakland is an outstanding team as everyone knows. We battled 'em defensively and stayed with it."

The Chargers play the Cincinnati Bengals, October 2 in their first 1977 regular season game at home. Tickets are available at the Chargers Gate E office at San Diego Stadium and at Select-a-Seat agencies.

Hendrick and Shelby Win Hall of Champs Stars

George Hendrick, San Diego Padre outfielder whose batting skill put him among the top 10 National League hitters, and Pam Shelby, one of the country's foremost trapshooters, have been selected as Stars of the Month for August by the San Diego Hall of Champions Board of Trustees.

Hendricks was singled out among the professional candidates for a strong performance which saw him collect 31 hits, including four homers, and 17 runs batted in while completing the month with a plate average of .309. He was the only Padre over the .300 mark.

Shelby, a National City school teacher, headed the amateur list for her showing in the annual Grand America trapshooting competition at Vandalia, Ohio where she not only won the women's division but also led in the Class B men's section. During the tourney she posted a new personal high score of 199.

The Board voted special awards for members of the El Cajon Western Little League baseball team which won the U. S. championship before bowing to favored Taiwan in a playoff for the world title. Additionally, a plaque will be given to the community for display in the El Cajon city hall.

Chula Vista's All-Stars were singled out for capturing their third straight national Bobby Sox crown with a record of 11 wins and a single loss in the final rounds at Buena Park.

Coliseum Matchups Good

Last week's card at the San Diego Coliseum proves big names aren't needed to provide an exciting evening of professional boxing.

The main go, a 10 round lightweight scrap between Negro Campos (24-3) and Fidel Fraijo (22-8-2) resulting in a split decision with Campos taking the nod. The two men provided as much action as any of the better known fighters who worked there during the past months.

The best bout of the card was a brawl between two light heavies — Leni Vanisi of Samoa and Eugene Meiri of Lawndale. It was Meiri's second fight and Vanisi's 12th but both were ready and able. Vanisi was dropped in the first round but recovered much ground through the remaining 5. Meiri took the decision, however.

Little Spud Murphy continues to swing away at anybody and everything in his 6-round junior lightweight encounter with Sammy Meza. Promoter Danny Millsap is putting a lot confidence in the Murphy lad and claims he may be title material. Murf is trained by his father, a former boxer of considerable skill.

In the opener, a 4-rounder welterweight scrap, Billy Mathis won a unanimous decision over Eric Bonnila. Here, too, the boxers showed a willingness to mix it.

The program was very satisfying for boxing fans. The next card is scheduled for October 7.

'Death Match' Is Mat Feature At Coliseum

There's to be another of the popular professional wrestling "Mexican Death Matches" at the San Diego Coliseum Tuesday night. In it, anything goes. Falls don't count. There's no time limit. The guy who can't get up is the loser. It'll be perpetrated betwen Black Gorman who is white, and Texas Red who is from Los Angeles.

In his first appearance in San Diego, the "Incredible" Buster Durant walks into a 3 plus 3 match with Victor Rivera and "Killer" Brooks. In that match 2 of the 3 wrestlers are in the ring at a time. Losers rotate until one wrestler has enforced 2 falls in a row.

In a tag team match, the Jones Boys — S.DD and Tom take on Great Goliath and Chavo Guererro.

Encounters start at 7:30 p.m. The Coliseum is at 15th and E. sts. in downtown San Diego.

G'mont Soccer Team Ranks 3rd

Coach Jerry Dickinson's Griffin soccer team split a pair of contests in last week's Golden West Invitational in Huntington Beach to earn a third-place finish.

After losing to El Camino, 5-0, on Saturday, the Griffins came back to take third place honors by blanking Arizona Western, 9-0.

The Griffins, now 1-3 for the season, will face Southwestern College Wednesday at 3 p.m. in Chula Vista.

Aztecs Squeak By Arizona 21-14

Coming off a big 21-14 win over Arizona State last week, the S.D. State U. football team draws a bye this week before meeting Utah State at home October 1.

The win over Arizona gave the Aztecs a 2-0 record

A crowd of 42,135 was in the Arizona Stadium and a regional television audience saw the teams struggle to a 0-0 tie at the half.

The Aztecs recovered a bad snap from center as the sec- half began and scored.

In the third period, Aztec All-American candidate tailback David "Deacon" Turner went 67 yards with Joe Davis' swing pass for the second score.

Arizona battled back to tie the game. But it was up to Davis' flanker, Ronnie Smith, to win the game by hooking up on a 28-yard scoring pass with 24 seconds to play.

NFLPA Opens Local Office

Ed Garvey, and the National Football Players' Assn. hosted San Diego media representative Tuesday at Town and Country at which he told of the opening of the Western Regional Office of the NFLPA.

Ernie Wright, the former Charger star, is regional director.

Garvey said that the thrust of the NFLPA was changing. The major effort is helping players with a second career.

"We help them plan for it while they are still playing professional football. It is accomplished either through education and training or through investment counseling."

Wright said that another thrust would be attempting to get more blacks into coaching and management posts.

The local office will be at 591 Camino de la Reina, Suite 304.

Pro Hockey Returns To Arena November 19

The San Diego Mariners of the newly organized Pacific Hockey League named Butch Barber, 34, a 12-year professional hockey veteran, to serve as coach for the 1977-78 season.

Joining Barber in the Mariners front office will be 25-year-old Bob Paine, who will be the general manager of the team. Paine held front office posts of minor hockey league teams in Syracuse, New York and Roanoke, Virginia.

The appointments were announced by Mariners owner Peter Graham as the club stepped up its preparations for the first season of the Pacific Hockey League. The home opener is scheduled for Saturday, November 19. Tickets are $6 & $5.

Barber, who will be making his coaching debut this year, played for 9 different teams during his 12 year career. He retired after finishing the 1975-76 season with the Southern Hockey League Tidewater Sharks.

He spent most of his career in the American Hockey League, with stops at Hershey, Providence, Cleveland and Syracuse. Barber spent the 1972-73 season with the Chicago Cougars of the WHA and also played for the WHA New York Golden Blades.

Barber enjoyed his finest professional season in 1973-74 with the Syracuse Blazers of the North American Hockey League. Playing under former Mariner coach Ron Ingram at Syracuse, Barber was voted the MVP and Outstanding defenseman in the league. He also set NAHL records for most assists and points by a defenseman.

Paine's Background

One of hockey's most innovative promoters, Paine started in Syracuse as an unpaid volunteer, before rising to the post of assistant general manager.

He served under Ron Ingram, handling all publicity, advertising, promotions and travel arrangements for the Blazers. His programs and yearbooks from Syracuse received honors from the Columbia Press Assn. and the Syracuse Press Club.

Paine first earned notice as a promoter in 1974-75, when his many promotions helped keep the Blazers alive and resist the challenge of a rival American Hockey League team in Syracuse.

He became general manager of the Roanoke Valley Rebels in 1975, at the time being the youngest general manager in professional hockey. Although the Rebels were badly underfinanced and eventually forced to fold, Paine increased the attendance 30% over the previous season.

Since leaving the Rebels, Paine has been in private business and also has been a sportscaster for WSLS-TV (NBC) in Roanoke.

Paine will be assisted by Don "Bucky" Buchanan in the office. Buchanan has been in San Diego with the Mariners for the past three years.

The PHL, consisting of Long Beach, Oakland and San Francisco in addition to San Diego and a possible fifth franchise, will commence play in November.

The loss evened the Griffins' 1977 record at 1-1.

Grossmont will travel to Chula Vista Saturday night at 7:30 for another nonconference battle with crosstown rival Southwestern College.

In last week's loss to Ariz. Mesa, the Griffins were outgained by the Thunderbirds (2-0), 368-223, in total yardage. The Griffins' two freshman quarterbacks Steve Shroyer and Todd Zuan combined to complete only seven of 21 passes for 77 yards, while Grossmont's ground game picked up 146 yards on 41 carries.

Spearheading the Griffins' rushing game were freshman tailback Greg Cole, who picked up 77 yards on 10 carries, and freshman fullback Mark Chrostowski, who charted 73 yards on 14 trips. Cole scored one time on a 28-yard run.

The Griffins' first score came on the game's opening kickoff which was returned by freshman George Castro 94 yards for six points.

The local effects of the damaged Metropolitan Water District aquaduct knocked out by flash floods has been minimal, Helix Water District General Manager Clarence Watters reported.

Even though Metro Water deliveries have been cut from 33.7 million gallons to 19.4 million gallons per day, the Helix district has been able to maintain normal deliveries to its cusomers via a back up reservoir.

Helix water is now being taken from storage facilities in Lake Jennings.

Watters also said Helix customers have dropped water consumption to 13 percent from the levels used last year.

Course by Newspaper To be on Partenting

UC San Diego Extension will present three new media courses this fall, both in San Diego and across the nation.

They are "Crime and Justice in America," a Course By Newspaper that will appear locally in the San Diego Union; "Perspectives on Effective Parenting," a Course By Television that includes the new PBS series "Parent Effectiveness," and Kenneth Galbraith's "The Age of Uncertainty," another telecourse.

Extension began its national media courses in 1973 with Courses By Newspaper. The key ingredient is a series of weekly articles by leading American scholars which appear in local newspapers across the country.

Colleges and universities wishing to offer the course accompanying the newspaper series receive study materials developed by Extension's Courses By Newspaper staff. Students read the articles in their local newspaper, study additional materials at home and attend contact sessions on the college campus.

Both Courses By Newspaper and Courses By Television have continued with such courses as "Oceans: Our Continuing Frontier," "Moral choices in Contemporary Society," "Classic Theatre: The Humanities in Drama," and "The Adams Chronicles."

"Crime and Justice in America," this fall's Course By Newspaper, is an exploration of the phenomenon of crime, its causes, theories of prevention, and the institutional means employed to combat it including police, courts, and correctional departments.

Two community forums will be held in conjunction with the course featuring guest speakers William Kolender, San Diego police chief; James Lorenz, director, San Diego County District Attorney's fraud division; Robert Simmon, professor of law, University of San Diego; Edwin L. Miller, San Diego district attorney; June Tapp, provost, Revelle College, and professor of psychology, UCSD; and Jerry Enomoto, director of corrections, State of California, department of corrections.

Writing Project May Show Signs Of Helping School Kids to Write

SACRAMENTO — A pilot program that is helping schools solve the Johnny-can't-write problem is now being expanded throughout California.

The program, called the Bay Area Writing Project, has received national acclaim as one of the most promising solutions to a universal problem: an inability of growing numbers of students to write effectively.

Developed at the University of California at Berkeley to serve the San Francisco area, the project now includes eight new writing centers, each modeled after the original Bay Area version.

The goal of the expansion, which is supported in part by the California State Department of Education, is to upgrade the writing ability of students in all parts of the state.

The Attack

All nine centers will attack the same problem.

"Little in their training has taught teachers how to teach kids to write," William E. Webster, manager of the department's staff development task force said in a recent interview.

"Up until recently," he added, "it has been difficult to find good courses to prepare teachers to teach writing effectively."

The centers, which will fill this gap by teaching teachers how to teach writing, were launched this summer with each one training a cadre of about 25 teachers to become trainers of other teachers.

The participants were selected because they relate well with other teachers, have a depth of knowledge in composition, and have devised successful methods for teaching writing that they would like to share with other teachers.

After teachers attend the summer clinics they will be better teachers themselves and will help conduct inservice training programs for other teachers, Webster said.

The eventual goal will be to reach teachers in other subjects as well as English.

The project's leaders believe that efforts to improve student writing should not be limited to classrooms directed by English teachers.

Three Assumptions

The Bay Area Writing Project was built on three assumptions, Webster said. First, there are teachers who know what they are doing.

Second, a great deal is known about how to teach writing. And third, most teachers are not aware of "what is known."

Webster, who heads the department's efforts to support and expand the writing program, said the Bay Area project and the other new centers won't be promoting any "party line" or particular method of teaching writing.

"They want teachers to pool all their information," Webster said, "and to be introduced to a cross-section of theories and techniques.

"English teachers who want to teach writing must write themselves," he continued. "Only then can we begin to comprehend what it is like to be a kid faced with a blank piece of paper."

All of the centers differ to some degree because they are trying to meet differing local needs.

Each was established after meetings with representatives from the department, universities, community colleges, county school offices and local school districts.

Although the centers are physically located on college campuses, they are regarded as a rare joint effort by all these facets of education.

New Centers

The eight new centers are operated by the University of California at San Diego; the University of California at Los Angeles; the University of California at Santa Cruz; California State University at Sonoma; California State University at Chico; a collaboration between the University of California at Davis and California State University at Sacramento; a collaboration between California State University at San Bernardino and the University of California at Riverside; and a collaboration between the University of Southern California, California State University at Dominguez Hills, California State University at Long Beach, the California State University at Fullerton and the Huntington Beach Union High School District.

The centers are being financed by a variety of sources. Although all nine centers are supported by the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), individual centers receive some funding or other support from agencies such as the individual offices of chancellors of the University of California, the Carnegie Corporation, county and local education agencies and the California State Department of Education.

NEH is also supporting the creation of similar centers in other parts of the nation, including New York, New Jersey, Colorado and Oregon.

The Bay Area project has already trained more than 100 teachers who, in turn, have trained an additional 1,000 teachers.

It is estimated the program will reach 500,000 students within two years due to the addition of eight new centers.

"This is good news to California because it means that the writing achievement level of the state's students may soon improve significantly," Webster said.

He cited the Las Lomas High School in the Acalanes Union High School District as an example of the project's success.

"Its average score for the English achievement part of the College Entrance Examination Board tests has improved significantly,, he reiterated, "We have every reason to believe the new projects will work just as well.

Realtors to Oppose Housing Discrimination

The S.D. Board of Realtors has joined a voluntary program aimed at ending housing discrimination, and realtor members will participate in training and education programs.

Realtors endorsed the Affirmative Marketing Agreement initiated by the National Assn. of Realtors and the Dept. of Housing and Urban Development.

Citizens in S.D. concerned about equal housing may report housing violations to the board — 291-3714 or the local HUD office — 293-6257.

Lawn Renovation Is Booklet's Subject

The kids have been home all summer. The area around the porch step has been "home" for the games of hide and seek, but there the grass has left.

In the corner of the yard there is nice dirt pile with lots of clay which has been mixed with water many times to make a wonderful mushy mud.

Now all that is left is some hand prints baked rock hard by the summer sun.

It's time for a lawn fix up and doing it now will give better results than if you put the job off 'til Spring.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has a new factsheet with tips for renovating your lawn or starting a new one.

For your free copy of "Fall Lawn Care," send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 680, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Fisher will serve for three years on the 18 member committee.

He assumed his present position at Palm last year after working for three years as principal in the Kings Canyon Unified School District. He has also been an assistant principal and a teacher.

Fisher graduated from Whittier College, and received his masters degree from there. He is presently working on his doctorate from Northern Arizona University.

Death Program Supported By Cal. Medical Assn.

The "hospice" program that helps terminally ill patients and their families accept the approaching inevitability of death has been endorsed by the California Medical Association.

Dr. E. Kash Rose, CMA president, said the association believes that "under appropriate medical direction and supervision, the activities and efforts of qualified hospice programs constitute an appropriate role in the care of terminally ill patients."

To assure high quality of hospices here, he said CMA's Medical Staff Survey Committee is being asked "to develop guidelines and criteria for the accreditation of hospice programs in this state, and we are encouraging insurance companies, government agencies and other health insurance mechanisms to (cover patients') hospice care in such accredited programs."

CMA's endorsement was recommended by the 25,000-physician association's Committee on Evolving Trends in Society Affecting, which noted that hospice program originated in England and are spreading rapidly in the U.S., especially in California.

The committee said the objectives of hospices include:

- Lightening a traumatic burden through sharing and meeting the expressed needs (physical, emotional, spiritual, social) of the cancer patient and family where rehabilitation isn't possible.
- Helping the patient achieve and maintain living and death with dignity.
- Minimizing the painful and damaging effects of the patient's death on the remaining family members.

A major contribution of hospice programs is minimizing symptoms that create discomfort for the patient.

Pain and sleeplessness are constant reminders of impending death, producing anxiety that heightens the pain. Use of pain-relieving drugs reduces anxiety and helps in creating comfortable surroundings. In such an environment, the patient is prepared to meet death in a calm state of mind, the committee reported.

Dr. William M. Lamers, Jr., medical director of the Hospice of Marin (County), which the CMA committee called "the most advanced program to date in the state," said CMA's endorsement is "very gratifying and extremely important."

If hospice programs are to succeed, he said, they "need the cooperation of physicians, nurses, hospitals and the entire medical community. We want to make it possible for many more people to die — in the hospital or at home, as they prefer — free from pain, attended by family and friends, living their lives as fully as possible until death."

Bridge Repairs Due

Van Frets About TV Coverage of Olympics

The House Communications Subcommittee, chaired by Rep. Lionel Van Derlin, D., Lemon Grove-Spring Valley, will take a hard look at the links between the broadcast networks and sports attractions such as the Olympic Games.

Van Deerlin said a one-day hearing Oct. 3 will explore the arrangements made by ABC and NBC to cover ,respectively, the 1980 Winter Olympics in Lake Placid, N.Y., and the Summer Olympics in Moscow.

Van Deerlin said the networks agreed to "huge increases in fees" for rights to televise the contests.

The subcommittee intends to examine negotiations leading to award of the contracts, including the extent to which the normally competitive networks collaborated in dealing with the Soviets.

Van Deerlin said he also wants assurances that coverage of the Moscow Games will not be subject to "improper" Soviet control, although he added he has no evidence that NBC "compromised its journalistic integrity" in reaching the agreement with the Russians.

The hearing next month will be the first in a series probing relations between the TV networks and sports. The hearings will be in Washington.

Also under investigation are allegations of improprieties in connection with the U.S. Boxing Championships covered by ABC and the "winner-take-all" tennis matches broadcast by CBS.

$15 Million Saved

Welfare Dept. Cracks Down on Absent Parents

A joint program with District Attorneys and county welfare departments of collecting court-ordered child support from absent parents of welfare families recently saved more than $15 million in taxpayers dollars, State Department of Benefit Payments Director Marian Woods announced.

Steady increases in collections have occurred over the past two years, since a stringent federally-backed enforcement system was put into operation.

The $15,500,000 in support on behalf of children getting Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) benefits was collected in January through March and represents a 23 percent increase over the same period a year ago.

As a condition of eligibility AFDC applicants must now cooperate with counties in obtaining child support by providing social security numbers for family members, helping to locate the absent parent, and helping to determine paternity.

Support collected from an absent parent whose children are on welfare goes to the state and county to cut the cost of their public assistance.

"Now that we're in full gear on this new program," Woods said, "collections for AFDC families have been running in excess of $5 million monthly."

He said the dollar amount represents only the payments collected in cases where the family is receiving an AFDC grant.

Approximately an equal amount is being collected statewide in non-welfare cases.

Support collection by California's 3,500 District Attorneys is available to all who request it, regardless of whether they are receiving welfare.

California has had its own support enforcement program since 1971. A 1975 amendment to the federal Social Security Act set up a similar program nationwide, including financial incentives for counties, and access to Social Security and other federal data files to help track absent parents.

"We're cracking down on parents who desert their families, and expect the government to pick up the cost of support," Woods said. "The principal cause of a family going on welfare is a father deserting the home . . . hopefully we can discourage this pattern."

Alpine Building Ban May Be Lifted Soon

Lifting a four-year moratorium on building permits in Alpine has been proposed by County Supervisor Lucille V. Moore in a letter to the Board of Supervisors and will be presented for action by the on Tuesday.

Moore, who represents the 2nd District which includes Alpine, also recommended that the county request additional capacity in the Metro Sewer System for the Alpine and Lakeside Sanitation Districts.

Moore said that a county growth policy and an Alpine community plan had been adopted; thus, two conditions the City of San Diego had stipulated for consideration of the additional capacity for Alpine had been fulfilled.

Mobilehome Bill Signed into Law

The Governor has signed a measure by Senator Bob Wilson (D-La Mesa) which further defines the rights and obligations of mobilehome owners.

Wilson explained, "As law, Senate Bill 586 requires two important things: it requires a mobilehome park manager to notify the tenants 60 days in advance of any rent increase and it requires a mobilehome owner to notify the management 60 days in advance of an intention to move out of the park.

"Mobilehome owners do not enjoy the instant mobility that 'mobilehome' implies. A move, necessitated by a rent increase, is time consuming, expensive and requires planning and effort. A 60 day notice of a rental increase will allow them adequate time to make a move if desired. This new law promises more security to a park owner who also needs time to fill a vacancy in a mobilehome park.

B of A To Finance Solar Energy Devices

LOS ANGELES — Bank of America will initiate a new solar energy financing program for California homeowners.

The new program, which grants home improvement loans, qualified customers will be able to obtain financing for the installation of solar hot water heating, swimming pool heating, home space heating and cooling.

"Rising energy costs from traditional sources have made solar energy more attractive and many systems are of sufficient quality for us to offer financing for them," said J. A. Carrera, executive vice president and head of the bank's California Division.

"In introducing this program, we hope to encourage the development and installation of solar energy systems. We're interested in initiating sound lending practices to help bring solar energy into the mainstream," Carrera continued.

The bank also finances other energy-saving improvements such as insulation, double pane windows and more efficient heating and cooling systems.

In year-to-date figures building permits for all types of buildings went from 11,913 to 12,723 with dollar values of $235,504,491 to $294,391,740.

Grove Realtor Visits U.S. Base at Exmouth

Dan Thren, a Lemon Grove realtor, is convinced that the U.S. Naval Base at Exmouth, western Australia, offers an unusual working and learning opportunity for naval personnel.

Exmouth, 965 miles north of Perth, has been operated jointly by U.S. and Australian government after the base was commissioned in 1967.

The base provides VLF radio communications to allied submarines and is one of 7 such VLF facilities around the globe.

Exmouth officer LCDR Robert L. Gustavus, USN, commended the personnel who work side-by-side, many of them women.

The base has educational and recreational facilities, craft shops and comfortable housing for married couples. There are also integrated barracks for singles.

Of the 400 Navy personnel, a substantial number of the women do heavy labor such as driving trucks, operating forklifts, moving cargo and supplies.

Women, according to Gustavus, are good workers. Their resence tends to reduce friction and fights and raises the morale of the men.

Free air travel on the Australian continent is available to base personnel when they are off duty. Some have autos which are delivered by ship which calls at Exmouth about once a month.

Assignment to the base is for 15 months minimum and the time counts as sea duty.

CHP Says Traffic Deaths To Reach Record by 1978

SACRAMENTO — California Highway Patrol Commissioner Glen Craig said the death toll on the state's highways for August was the highest for any month since July of 1973.

The Commissioner also predicted traffic deaths would top 5,000 annually by 1978 if the trend set in August continues.

Some 472 people died on California's highways during August.

Craig added this was just a preliminary count and said, "and 472 is a provisional count, which probably will increase slightly when late reports are tallied.

"The advantage Californians gained in 1974 when 55 m.p.h. became the maximum speed limit and mileage dropped as the result of fuel shortages is rapidly disappearing," Craig reinterated.

In July of 1973, 479 people died on the state's highways. The highest single month on record is July 1971 when 490 persons died.

"Annual fatality figures are edging higher each year and it now appears that by 1978 California will be back to annual death counts of 5,000," Craig said.

The causes cited by Craig for this trend were labeled "complex" yet the Commissioner cited record vehicle mileage, distructive impact of drinking drivers, and the growing disregard for the 55 mph speed limit as the major reasons.

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C.M. Douglas

Last week's question addressed the problem of obstructed rear-view mirrors. Captain Douglas told an inquirer the law requires two unobstructed rear-view mirrors to get full vision.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It may save a citation — or even your life.

Write in care of this newspaper. You don't have to sign the letter and please allow at least three weeks for the reply to appear.

This Week's Question:

I am conserving fuel by riding my bike whenever possible. I note that motorists have very little regard for me when I'm on my bike. When I walk I seem to have the right of way but on my bike they seem to class me as an enemy. What is the law regarding my rights?

This Week's Answer:

A bicyclist is regarded as a vehicle and subject to all the driving rules of a motor vehicle. You must obey all signs and signals that an automobile must obey. Unfortunately, many drivers loon at bicycles as a mere nuisance. Since a bicycle doesn't offer the protection an automobile does, you must drive defensively. As a pedestrian it may seem you have the right of way, but that's merely because you don't have so many traffic situations to encounter as a driver does.

SDG&E Says Gas Bills To Be Lower

San Diego Gas & Electric residential natural gas customers may enjoy lower costs per therm in the coming winter months, even though the company has filed for an increase to offset new, higher prices imposed by its supplier, the Southern California Gas Company.

This seemingly contradictory state of affairs stems from higher rates established by the California State Public Utilities Commission (PUC) when it ordered the last purchased gas adjustment in July. Those rates, which the CPUC called its "Summer Rate Schedue", are due to expire this fall and were designed for a summer rate of consumption.

Winter consumption, which is greater due to cooler weather, allows for a lower per therm cost.

Because customers use more therms each month, a lower cost per therm is required to offset thet increased annual cost to SDG&E.

As a consequence, if the PUC approves, even though SDG&E will need an additional $1,868,674 to meet the new, higher amount charged by its gas supplier, the bill of the average, urban residential customer with gas water and space heating who uses 100 therms per month will be $20.47, down $2.44 from the amount it would have been under the existing "Summer Rate Schedule".

What You Should Know

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

Alcoholism

Alcoholism is, in large part, a hidden disease.

Most chronic alcoholics are not the easily identifiable "drunk."

In chronic alcoholism tolerance to relatively high levels of blood alcohol has developed.

"Tolerance" means the absence of outward evidence of intoxication at blood alcohol levels which produce behavioral, movement or speech changes in the nonalcoholic individual.

Intoxication by a few drinks is characteristic of an inexperienced drinker, although it also may occur when an individual has advanced alcoholic liver disease.

Most chronic alcoholics develop tolerance in their twenties and thirties and maintain a high tolerance for many years before decompensation occurs.

"Decompensation" means medical complications such as alcoholic disease of the liver, chronic brain disorders, or social and occupational disruption which leads to divorce, loss of job, drunk-driving and arrest records, etc.

During the period of developing and mantaining tolerance the individual tends to function "normally."

This period of "compensated" chronic alcoholism is the vital time when prophylaxis or preventive care is most likely to be effective in reducing the eventual ravages of chronic alcoholism.

Unfortunately, society at large, even physicians, exhibits a self-conscience attitude toward designating these individuals as "alcoholic."

The term is associated with public drunkeness, silly or irresponsible behavior or end-state medical conditions—categories that do not apply to most chronic alcoholics.

Chronic alcoholism is a condition which carries with it an enhanced risk of future decompensation — medical, psychological, social, occupational. It is not immoral, degrading or disgraceful. It is not a crime.

Detection of chronic alcoholism usually requires careful observation of a person's drinking behavior and an appraisal of his or her reaction to high blood-alcohol levels. Once it is detected there remains the difficult tasks of "confrontation."

This is the process of presenting evidence that the person will accept as proof of his or her tolerance to alcohol. Then comes information and education about the nature of alcoholism and the recovery process.

The purpose of detection, confrontation and education is to enable chronic alcoholic individuals to know and accept

1) that they have a problem
2) that the consequences of continued alcohol consumption are severe and
3) that there are proven methods to help them change their patterns of behavior to protect them from the ravages of alcoholism.

- Most chronic alcoholics are not drunks. Drunkenness is not necessarily typical chronic alcoholic behavior.
- Many chronic alcoholics appear sober.
- Many people who are obviously intoxicated are not chronic alcoholics.
- Chronic alcoholism is not a moral disease nor a sign of weakness of character, lack of backbone or will power.
- Most chronic alcoholics do not admit they are chronic alcoholics.
- Chronic alcoholism is neither mostly a medical illness nor mostly a psychiatric disorder nor mostly a social aberration.
- Chronic alcoholics do not always develop cirrhosis of the liver, become drunk drivers or derelicts, abuse their spouses and children, end up in jail, nor commit suicide.
- Most drunks were chronic alcoholics for many years before they were recognized as drunks.
- Most chronic alcoholics are always alcoholics but may be distinguished as drinking or nondrinking alcoholics (wet or dry).
- Alcoholics rarely recover or stop drinking permanently without help.
- Most chronic alcoholics are susceptible to abusing other drugs such as tobacco, sedatives, etc.
- Most chronic alcoholics are not members of A.A. (Alcoholics Anonymous) or any other treatment program.

State Looking For Minority Historical Sites To Fund

SACRAMENTO — The California Department of Parks and Recreation is trying to find districts, sites, buildings, and structures with special significance to the state's Asian, Black, Chicano and Native American populations for historic preservation.

Mickey Fearn, the director of the project which seeks public aid to find these historic sites, said the "educational and economic benefits that can be realized as a result of the identification and preservation (of) these properties are unlimited".

These properties will also be placed under a tax umbrella which will give the sites tax breaks under both state and federal laws.

Fearn said the value of the property tends to rise as a result of the designations.

But the real purpose of the whole thing, Fearn said, is to keep history alive.

"It also illustrates how we have come from past mistakes," he reinterated. "People can learn from their community history and architecture; they can learn pride and delight with their heritage.

"I am interested in identifying for possible restoration facilities and structures that serve to illustrate historical landmarks funded under the National Historical Preservation Act of 1966."
